Pitt Eleven Entitled to Newspaper Decision Following Scoreless Battle With Bezdek's Team

PENN STATE LUCKY TO END MATCH WITH PANTHERS IN A TIE

Pitt Not Only Gained More Ground and Earned Almost Twice as Many First Downs, But Also Played in Great Form

> By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger (Referee Pitt-Penn State Game)

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 25. PITT and Penn State perpetrated another scoreless tie on Forbes Field resterday afternoon, the second consecutive deadlock the football teams have stepped into. This makes the championship-so far as Pittsburgh, Pa., and State College are concerned-an even-Stephen affair since 1919. It seems that neither team can learn which is the worst, despite the grandoldope on the previous games played this season.

However, were it necessary to give a newspaper decision-one of the things which occur frequently in boxing bouts-Pitt would get the verdict on points. Not that it means anything, for the record books will carry the 0-to-0 score and in a short time everybody will have forgotten all about it; but the men of Warner played a marvelous game of football yesterday, out-pointed the Nittany Nomads and sprang one of the big surprises of the season.

Regardless of the fact that Pitt gained more yardage from scrimmage and kicked in with almost twice as many first downs, the play on the football field showed the Panthers in their very best form. To step out of the character, after dropping three games this season and do everything but wallop the very best football team in these United States is no mean accomplishment. The players went into the game with everything to gain and nothing to lose. That gave them an opportunity to play with the deuces wild, take all kinds of chances and shoot the whole works.

THEY rushed and upon a slippery, slimp, songy gradieon, which had I in spots every appearance of a hord of soup. They slid and skated around, did the best they could, and this was slightly better than the efforts of Penn State.

State Lucky With a Tie

WITHOUT attempting to take anything from either team or hand out what might be considered the grand slam, which is not our intention. State was lucky to get off with a tie score. They were fortunate to be able to hop on the train last night and depart for the Far West with a clean slate. They were not defeated, they can lay claim to all of the championships lying around loose without putting the parade out of step, but at the same time they probably are sighing long sighs of relief because the battle is over, and you can't

It was a terrible day for a football game, and the argument might be advanced that State was handicapped by the slippery field. This may be so, but it must be remembered that the Navy was defeated on such a day, only There was a heavy rain falling when the Middles took the count, and Therefore, let's hand some credit to Pitt. After three beatings, the Panthers deserve it. They were the under dog when the game started, and it must be remembered that even if an under dog never barks, it surely can bite. The submarine canine certainly bit a huge chunk out of Penn State's aspirations yesterday afternoon.

DONOT get the idea that State was all shot and the team has been overrated. Nothing like that, The Blue and White played a scrappy, high-class game, but Pitt was slightly better.

Straight Football Throughout

ON A field which made it impossible for consistent forward passing or drop-kicking. It was necessary for both teams to resort to straight football. State was unable to get away with its hidden-ball trick, nor was Killinger able to step out with any of his long, dazzling runs. The game had to be played according to Hoyle,

There wasn't much doing in the first quarter. Both sides learned it was almost impossible to do any consistent gaining around the ends or by forward passing, so the old-style, line-smashing game was put on. Near the end of the period Pitt made a first down and two more in the second. That gave

State had a chance to score in this period. Killinger punted to Pitt's 5-yard line and Davies picked up the ball. The Pitt captain has been criticized for picking up the oval because it might have rolled over the goal line for a safety. However, the ball had almost come to a complete stop and Davies had to pick it up. Then came an unusual feature in football-three fumbles in a row, the ball changing hands three times on three plays. First Davies allowed the pigskin to squirt out of his hands and State recovered. Then Wilson foozled and Pitt got the ball back again. On the very first play Colonna fumbled after he had crashed through the line and it was State's bull on the 21-Here was State's one and only glorious opportunity to score-only 21 yards from the Panther goal line and first down. However, the Pitt defense stiffened and, after three shots at the line, 7 yards were made,

With the ball on the 14-yard line, the real play was a drop-kick, but the condition of the field and the slippery ball made this impossible. The next best thing was a forward pass, and it was tried. The only thing wrong with this play was it didn't work, the ball was grounded and l'itt took the ball on

THAT was the end of State's chances. Hugo Bezdek's athletes 1 never were dangerous after that. In fact, they were lucky to keep Pitt from crossing their goal line.

Wilson Intercepts Forward Pass

TN THE third period Pitt made three more first downs in a row, carrying the ball past midfield and into State's territory. There was a good chance to score, but a forward pass went floole and landed in the arms of Wilson on State's 18 gard line.

State soon got the ball out of danger, but in the fourth period Pitt always was dangerous. It seemed to me as if the ball was in the Blue and White territory all of the time. In this period Killinger got off two very poor punts, which on a dry field would have resulted in some hard luck for his side. One punt traveled about 10 yards before going out of bounds, and the other sailed through the murky and moist ozone 15 yards. However, Pitt could not take advantage of the bobbles, so the scoreless the was the result. Killinger, to my mind, still is one of the greatest backs in the country.

True, be didn't gain much ground, but nobody could under the circumstances. He is good, just the same, and can carry the ball not only around the end, but also through the line. He is the best line-plunger for his weight I ever have seen. McMahon at tackle also was good. Herb Stein is an All-American center and proved it. He was in every play on the defense, and on the attack his passing could not be improved upon. When Colonna cracked the line for those long gains it was Stein who opened Ander-on played a great game at half and Holleran was a marvelous quarterback. Davies was watched too closely to get off any runs.

THE game was clean and hard fought. Not one penalty for un-necessary roughness or for holding was inflinted. Copumphs, 1921, by Public Lodger Company
